

Presentation 7 - Nature

Nature

Wow! When I was looking at the photos of China I was impressed. Gardens in China are so beautiful and magic. As for flowers I have fallen in love with lotus. It's superb. I dream about it in my own garden;) Panda seems to be very friendly;) and fish in the Chinese Sea - they're so colourful:D It's a magic:D But the most impressing are caves. Light painted this place with lots of water-colours:)

Radka Bociek , 13-03-2009, 20:38

My opinion

The presentation is really great, has a lot of photos, which help to imagine amazing nature of China. I think the young panda is very nice too:) We haven't in Poland exotic verdure( plants) and animals, so I'm in love with China's nature. I hope so, I will have a chance to be there:)

Sara Rajzer , 13-03- 2009, 00:17

I spent a pleasant time watching this presentation :) It looks nice, has a lot of colourful photos with enchanting landscapes on them and involves many interesting information. Maybe because of this I enjoyed it very much.

I must say that I have a deep admiration for Chinese gardens. They are amazing! I know that I can only dream about having such a garden of my own, but I think there's nothing wrong with fantasizing, as long as you don't lose touch with reality :) My attention was also caught by beautiful caves. They look really magic and fabulous thanks to colourful lights.

What can I add? It's a pity that it was the last presentation...

Sara Jarochovska , 04-05-2009, 15:14

I must admit I was lucky doing presentation about such pleasant subject ;) Thanks to that I had an opportunity to learn more about chinese fauna and flora so as I had better view on chinese nature. I am pretty sure it is worth going to China at least to contemplate with chinese nature. I also have a small part of it like Aga- I have bonsai tree in my house ;)

Karolina Dudek , 05-05-2009, 11:39